

March 17, 2020

In light of the coronavirus, and in the interest of exercising caution for the safety and wellbeing of our clients and team members, we have determined that our SAGE team will be working remotely effective March 18, 2020 and on a temporary basis. And while our physical offices will not be occupied, rest assured that each of our team members, to include our Wealth Advisors, are fully operational and continue to oversee your financial affairs.

There will be no interruption in service or oversight for any of our operations. Additionally, we will continue to pick up mail on a daily basis and process all incoming paperwork and checks per usual.

Please note, if you have a scheduled in-person meeting with your Wealth Advisor, they will reach out shortly and arrange an alternative meeting solution via telephone or teleconference.

We will communicate regularly as this situation evolves to make sure that you are fully informed. As always, thank you for your continued trust and relationship.

Sincerely,

SAGE Private Wealth Group
